Excerpt: . in dairy circles to maintain uniform standards, and there is no question but that one gets very close to the relative value of cows in the order of their possible production when using type as a standard. EXERCISES 1. By the use of the score card system select the best beef animal on the home farm. 2. By using the points on the score card select the best cow in the home herd. 3. Test your judgment by weighing the milk of the three best cows. 4. Further check your judgment by testing the milk of all these animals and calculating butter fat production. HOME PROJECT Keep an accurate record of the milk production of all the dairy cows in the home herd for one month and test the milk of each in order to determine by actual test the best cows. CHAPTER XI JUDGING SWINE AND SHEEP Swine are produced for meat alone; and the ideal animal is the one that will produce the maximum percentage of good meat. The lard hog is a low-down, thick, compact animal that has been developed on fattening foods; while the bacon hog has been developed on foods that tend to produce more bone than muscle. The fat hog is a product of the corn belt, where corn is the cheapest ration grown and the one most commonly fed. The bacon hog is a product of regions outside the corn belt. The market favors the cornfed...
